

LIFE OF A PIMPLE

Complexions Are Cleared and Pimples Disappear Overnight Without Trouble.

The dispensers of posam, a new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is urged to purchase it without first obtaining an experimental package. Those who have tried it will find that the fifty-cent box, on sale at Jennie Hamilton's Pharmacy and all drug stores, is sufficient to cure the worst cases of eczema, while the surface affected is not too large. The itching ceases on first application. It will cure acne, freckles, blotches, scaly scales, hives, and even other forms of skin disease. Being flesh-colored and containing no grease, the presence of posam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and soap cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them. As to the experimental package of posam, it can be had free of charge by mail from the Emergency Laboratory, 20 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York. It alone is sufficient to clear the complexion overnight, and to rid the face of pimples in twenty-four hours.

POINTS OF INTEREST

Ladies' Notice.

Radford B. Smith's Sale.
Tomorrow will be a good one. Lots of new goods have come from New York this week. Many of which will be found in the advertisement today. Among these are a lot of St. Patrick Souvenirs, Flags, Paper Napkins, Postal Cards, etc.

Try the Crawford.
When you are dissatisfied with the manner in which your linen or wet wash is done just try the Crawford Laundry and you'll find that the work is done better and more satisfactory than you can have it done elsewhere or even at home because the facilities to do the best work are here.

Cut Plug.
Smoking plugs are now in demand. Eckler & Co., 923 and 875 Main Street, carry a large variety. If you purchase here the annoyance of cutting up your plug is done for you. It is done for you on the premises without a moment's delay and by a new improved cutting machine. Try a plug for a long, pleasant smoke, there's nothing to beat it.

Spring Overcoats.
This is just the time to make your selection of a spring overcoat and the line being shown at The Hub Clothing Store at the corner of Main and Bank streets is the one that is winning the approval of men who are critical in the matter of dress. In style and price there is a wide variety. It is worth your while to visit this store and post yourself on the correct spring styles. New Spring hats and furnishings are also being shown. When your garments come from The Hub you know they are right.

Your Attention.
Is called to our fine line of Baby carriages and go carts. These are here for your inspection which we will be pleased to show you. Our complete go-carts are best in town at lowest price, all durable and material either for cash or on small weekly payments. Come and investigate our goods and prices before purchasing it. We pay you to trade at The Hub Furniture Co., 1192 Main St. The old reliable furniture and clothing credit house. Everyone is invited to look us over. No trouble to show goods. Store open Saturday evening.

Anniversary Candy.
Six months ago to-day, the Puritan candy store at 193, Fairfield Avenue opened for business. At the time, Mr. Wright, the proprietor, was told by some that a candy business could not be successfully carried on in Bridgeport. He was told that the quiet success of the little store, however, has demonstrated this to be untrue, and at the present time, while but six months old, the little business has grown and has scores of regular patrons. The return of satisfied customers is encouraging not to mention profitable and each week sees many new faces added to the list of those who want fresh candies and want them to go to the Puritan to get them. See us in another part of this paper on our anniversary special, they are real bargains.

St. Patrick's Day Entertainment.
The 3rd Division A. O. H. entertainment on March 17th is not given only to replenish its treasury, but also to commemorate the memory of Ireland's Patron Saint who through the inspiration of the all high releasable Irish race from the bondage of paganism, a very which they blindly worshipped for nearly five hundred years of the Christian era. In honoring St. Patrick the members of the Division believe they are honoring themselves the organization they belong to and the Irish race in general. The history of that race has been ably depicted by the Hon. John T. Keating at Poll's Opera House Sunday evening March 7th whose lecture in full appeared in the Farmer on St. Patrick's Day. The committee guarantees a good time to all who attend. See advertisement.

Latest Spring Fashions.
Within the reach of every family, what the new styles are and what the popular fabrics will be are well represented at the store of Caesar Misch, Inc., fully equalling the advance spring displays at the stores of the limited charge houses. Many who can and do buy for cash, prefer to trade there as they find a variety and quality that is equalled by but the cash is not necessary; accounts are cheerfully opened with people whose amount of ready money is small, and those who are able to advance a little, find that some special style which appeared beyond their means, could be theirs without any undue strain upon the family purse. Cheerful Credit as practiced by Caesar Misch, Inc. is simply this: A small sum deposited on receiving the garment, and the balance in weekly payments. The amount of which is regulated by the purchaser's income. Men too, who know the advantage of being stylishly dressed, find that limited means are no hindrance at Caesar Misch. The Spring woolsens and serges are unusually attractive this season, and their entire cost is very moderate. Boys' clothing department and family shoe department where the best may be had on the easiest of payments, have gained many friends for this store. The Edison Phonograph outfit complete, on Cheerful Credit, is another attraction that many have availed themselves of.

CASTORIA.

It's the Kind You Have Always Bought.

Athletic Feats on the Moon.

Did you ever get to thinking that you would enjoy a sudden translation from the earth to the moon? If you have, did you ever figure on the wonderful feats of muscular strength with which you could astonish our luminary neighbors, providing gravitation would have no more effect accordingly there than here? Let us figure: The moon only weighs one-eighth part as much as the earth. Gravitation must therefore be correspondingly less. If therefore a man weighed 140 pounds on this earth he would weigh but a fraction over twenty pounds according to the scales used on the moon. If, however, his muscles and frame remained the same as they were before being transferred to our silvery sister world he could "astonish the natives" with his astounding athletic and muscular feats. He would be able to shoulder an elephant of the regulation size and to yank a small mountain out by the roots. The buoyancy of his body would be so great that athletic feats would be easily accomplished. He could run a mile in something less than two seconds or could by a single bound leap over a wall twenty-four feet high without greater exertion than would be required here in clearing one only two feet in height.

Artist Ziem's Queer House.
Ziem, the artist, was a queer character. He lived in a house at the top of the Rue Lepic on Montmartre. His house was his castle in the literal sense of the word. It was difficult to obtain admission, for the painter had an upper window out of which he always looked when the bell rang and interrogated his would be visitors. He had a basket which he let down by a cord to receive packages or messages, and he slept in a wonderful swinging bed. His house was a veritable museum, illuminated Persian manuscripts being part of his collection. Some of these were worth thousands of francs, but it was impossible to persuade him to sell any of them. In place of a newel post on his stairway stood the prow of a gilded gondola, and, closely immured in his studio, he painted pictures of Venice and bade defiance to all who came to disturb his peace.

Virtues of the Old Soda.
On the very rare occasions that snakes have been found in Ireland explanation of the phenomena has always been forthcoming. One was brought in a bundle of shrubs, another in a packing case, and yet another—this time a dead one—was introduced by an English visitor. All have proved of alien extraction. Even science cannot disprove the Irish belief in St. Patrick as a pious piper. Here is an incident illustrative of this belief. A son of Erin emigrated to Australia and quickly made a fortune. He was happy except for one trial—snakes. "Oh, for an Australian St. Patrick," he moaned. And then came an inspiration. He wired for a load of the soil of old Ireland. Only when he had strewn the precious mold around about his dwelling could he sleep in peace—London Tribune.

Paint Brushes.
Everybody paints, whether he owns a house in the suburbs or rents a flat in the metropolis. And what troubles the mind most is the disposition of the brushes when the job is partly completed. Some folk leave them in the paint, some wash them in turpentine, some soak them in alcohol, some immerse them in linseed oil. An authority advises all amateur as well as professional painters to drop their brushes into a bucket or bottle of water and forget them. When needed again they will be as soft and pliant as when new. I have tried the trick and can recommend it.—New York Press.

The Houses of Parliament.
The fire which destroyed the old houses of parliament broke out on Oct. 18, 1834. The present building, termed the palace of Westminster, was opened on Nov. 4, 1835. It stands on a bed of concrete twelve feet thick and covers an area of nine statute acres. It contains 1,100 apartments, 100 staircases and two miles of corridors and passages. The great Victoria tower at the southwest extremity is 346 feet in height.—London Standard.

Sharp and Well Set.
The mistress of the house was newly installed and looked it, but she had clearly defined ideas on industrial questions, and when the man who had called her to the door asked for a little something to eat she immediately looked toward the wood pile in the yard. "Well," she said, "if you will get that at—"

Her Dearest Wish.
"Darling," he said, "now that we are married, what is your dearest wish?" She gazed into his eyes with a sweet, confiding look and said: "That you will try to have the jeweler take this engagement ring back so you can get me one with a diamond at least half as large again."

Inexperienced.
"Johnny, if you eat all six of these apples you won't have any appetite for your dinner."

It is needless to state that it was Johnny's bachelor uncle who made the remark. No man with experience in grocery bills would have made such an error.

We Started It.
"Why are you going about with a lantern and a cynical smile?" asked the bystander.

"Don't interrupt me," returned Diogenes. "I am the original investigating committee!"—Washington Star.

200,000 Killed this year in Italy
You may read how to avert an even greater annual slaughter than this at home. Consumption, the white death, is the slayer.

Do you know that consumption is communicable? That it is preventable? That it is CURABLE? These are facts.
